Liverpool indie rock band The Graft are set to release their compelling new single, "Little," on 10 July, available across all major streaming platforms.

A powerful blend of driving indie-rock energy, soaring guitars and introspective lyricism, the song is built around a simple yet thought-provoking refrain — "It only takes a little."

Written from a place of honesty and self-reflection, "Little" delves into the struggles of daily life. At its heart lies a question many listeners will recognise: are we getting closer to who we want to be? Rather than offering easy answers, "Little" invites audiences to find their own meaning within the lyrics.

"Sometimes we feel closer to where we want to be and sometimes we feel miles away, somewhere in this song is the acknowledgement, if we can be happy with a little we gain a lot."

- Jamie Higgs, frontman and songwriter.

"The song is raw, real and relatable and it has its highs and lows just like life. And it's a rammer."

- Eddie Ponting, lead guitarist and songwriter.

The single continues The Graft's tradition of pairing honest storytelling with memorable indie-rock hooks, further establishing the Liverpool outfit as a band unafraid to tackle the complexities of everyday life through their music. With its infectious energy and thought-provoking message, "Little" promises to be one of The Graft's most resonant releases yet.

"Little" will be available on Spotify, Apple Music, Amazon Music, YouTube Music and all major streaming services from 10 July.

About The Graft

The Graft are a Liverpool-based gritty indie band known for their honest songwriting, infectious melodies and energetic live performances, redefining the modern Scouse sonic landscape. Rebranding from Jamie Higgs earlier this year, the Merseyside band have been gaining serious momentum as one of the most exciting bands to emerge from the Northwest. From an Liverpool Sound City 2026 to electric performances supporting The Clause, Louis Berry, Smaller and Trampoline, the four-piece have energised every room they have set foot in, sending growing shockwaves across the UK.

Featuring Jamie Higgs, Eddie Ponting, Zak Langford-Do and Jack Hannon, The Graft take inspiration from the challenges and triumphs from their own everyday life, building a reputation for crafting music that is both deeply personal and universally relatable. Now completing a hatrick of sold out hometown shows with their upcoming The Kazimier Stockroom show on 25 July, the mercurial quartet are ready to bring stadium-ready melodies and hooks across Britain.
